

HANDOUT 7.3.3 – Try It Out

Preparation for the Showcase

Directions: Your facilitator will let you know how much time you can take for your presentation. Each presentation will include the following three sections: a review of your formative assessment efforts, the lessons learned, and potential next steps to move the work forward. To prepare for the showcase, consider the following questions:

- A review of your formative assessment work, plus samples to share:
 - What were some of your challenges?
 - What were some of your successes?
 - Do you have samples of your work you can share?
 - Do you have samples of student work?
- Lessons learned:
 - How has this been valuable to your teaching?
 - What structures have changed in your classroom?
 - What student changes and/or reactions would you like to share?
 - What areas of the formative assessment process do you feel most confident about?
- Your next steps implementing formative assessment and the assistance you might need from a learning team:
 - What aspects of the formative assessment process would you like to focus on next?
 - What help do you need from a learning team to move your learning forward?
